THE HIGH PRICE I HAD TO PAY 4:

A Product Of The Game, Sentenced To 10 Years As A Non-Violent Offender

Although the United States of America only consists of 5% of the world's population, it houses over 25% of the world's prison population! With close to two million Americans behind bars, the faces of the U.S. prison population has dramatically changed. Jail cells are no longer inhabited by just men. Today, there is a major increase of female offenders, sweeping across the nation. The true stories of these women, and the injustices they face in the U.S. judicial system, often remains untold!

The High Price I Had To Pay, Volume IV, is a captivating real-life story about the life of Brandi Davis, a young, single mother who entered the drug game after the sudden death of her child's father, Deron Gatling. Gatling, a notorious drug dealer and a well-known member of the infamous Black Mafia Family (BMF) organization, showered Davis with expensive gifts and provided her a lavish lifestyle that she was unwilling to give up so easily. Feeling as though her back was against the wall, determined to stay afloat, Davis accepted an invitation to enter the drug game.

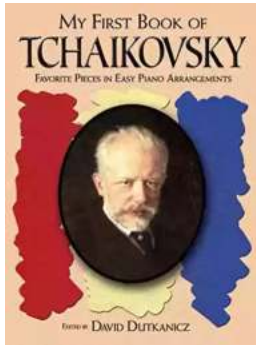

As the daughter of a legendary hustler, Davis was no novice to street life. She quickly intergrated her business savvy and prominent drug connections, skyrocketing to the top of the drug under-world. All was well, until she got caught red-handed with 27 kilos of freshly packaged cocaine. With the help of a few key informants, Davis's empire swiftly came crumbling down, landing her a ten year bid in federal prison. Hopeless, behind bars, Davis didn't suffer alone; her son, who was a toddler, was also left behind without his mother.

This cautionary tale reveals the shocking truths of those who enter the drug game in America, and the harsh penalties they face. Is a decade plus sentence necessary to punish a young mother who became a product of the game? Or, is there a better way to level the scales of justice in America? You be the judge!
